A Word from one of our Ministers

Dear Friends,

I am not sure whether it was just some accident or some greater design that set me on the journey of making the recent statements I have made about Inclusivity in my more recent pulpit ministry. I have a hunch that there is more to it than just some quirk of fate.

By the time some of you will get to read this we will have held the first of our three days in our Discerning Prayer Journey that is unfolding over these three months, May, June and July. Just to remind you the dates are: 12:30pm, 26th May at London Road, 12:30pm, 7th June at Partridge Green and 12:30pm, 4th August at St Andrew's. They're all after Church on a Sunday and you're invited to bring your own lunch with tea and coffee provided.

What has this to do with that, you may be asking.

Well, despite the fact that we have made some really significant decisions about inclusivity, there is no explicit statement regarding being inclusive in our mission and vision statement! It's all rather implicit. Both Sarah and I think we need to ensure that, as we go through this Discerning Prayer Journey process, we don't lose sight of that and ensure that a more explicit statement about our commitment to being an inclusive church finds a place in our vision and mission statement.

Where do we begin to think about inclusivity?

Let me offer two thoughts, one from Scripture and one from the Creeds, and make some general affirmations and end with a specific call.

The Creation story is so much more than simply a mechanistic explanation of HOW the world was made and by WHOM. Fundamentally it tells us that creation exists because God IS. The whole of creation is an expression of God's being, nature and purpose and it should remind us that everything bears that stamp, everything!

When God says: 'Let us make humankind in our image, in our likeness' Gen 1:26 it gets a little bent out of shape because it seems to imply that we're the only ones who bear that image and likeness. I think that is the whole human story in microcosm, just there! Remember who wrote the story! No! More than just you and me, the whole of creation bears the image and likeness of the Creator. The fundamental fact is that we ALL belong together!

The Nicene Creed, in its opening statement, says: We believe in one God, the Father, the Almighty, maker of heaven and earth, of ALL that IS, seen and unseen. Ponder that for a moment. Creator of ALL that IS. If it exists, it exists because GOD made it so! Now I know that is a radical thought so I'm not going to have an argument with you over it – believe me, I have had enough of those with myself – but every time I am brought back to that fundamental truth and I have to start from there.

Where does that leave us?

Well, actually, there is a great deal of good work already in place. We have taken steps to make our chapels accessible. We all have accessible entrances, toilets, flexible seating. There are hearing loops in all three chapels and we are constantly trying to better shape our presentations so they are legible and accessible. But what of our language, what about our unconscious bias – those habits and norms that are so much part of who we are that we almost don't notice them but they show when we meet the stranger or the other? There is work we need to do and somehow, we need to incorporate that into our conversation over these next few months.

There is, however, one specific thing I want to invite your participation in. In response to my sermon on Peter & Cornelius someone asked me: 'So what are you doing about it?!' It took more than a small measure of self control not to point out that actually, this is NOT about me, or Sarah for that matter. This is about US. WE need to do something, particularly about the decision we have made at London Road and St Andrew's to be specifically inclusive regarding the breadth of human sexuality. Both those chapels, along with Sarah and myself, are registered for celebrating the marriage of any two people. We all thought that was an amazing decision, and it is, but for the most part, no-one else knows! Well, I hope, that is about to change. Horsham is about to enter into the Gay Pride movement and our first Pride event is set to take place on Friday 28th June and WE'RE GOING TO BE THERE! We have reserved a stall and now we need you to join in with helping us to staff the stall throughout the day.

In preparation for this event we will be meeting with a Gay colleague in the neighbouring Circuit to help us appreciate the etiquette and the opportunity that has been set before us. Please can you let Lindsey know in the Church office on office@cornerstone-mc.org or 01403-240714 if you would like to be a part of this team. Our meeting with Gill Baalham has yet to be set so please watch the Weekly Mailing and Notices for that information. I look forward to taking this step into the glorious unknown of a new adventure in faith and discipleship with you.

Blessings,
Gavin

A community of people seeking to follow Jesus, experiencing and sharing God's love and grace through worship, learning, caring and serving in our communities and beyond.

Lord,

When I feel weak, please be my strength.
When I am weary, be my rest.
When I am anxious, be my peace.
When I am sad, be my joy.
When I am lonely, be my companion.
When I am gripped by doubt, give me faith.
When I miss my family, sit with me.
When I am in pain, be my healer.
When I am impatient, be my patience.
When I am confused, still me.
When I am angry, soothe me.
When I feel broken, hold me.
When the future feels uncertain, keep my eyes on you.
When the waves crash in, lift me up.
When the storms rage, calm the waves.
When my heart is broken, mend me.
In everything be my all in all.
I need you more than I can say
But thank you that you love me
more than I could ever understand.

You are my enough.
Let me rest in your rest
And stand in your strength

Amen

METHODIST WORLD MISSION MEXICO

In December 2023 Rev. Holly Adams, who is one of the officers in the Connexional Team, visited the Methodist Churches in Mexico to join them in celebrating 150 years since the Mexican Methodist Church held their first service on Christmas Day 1873.

In 1825 a group of Cornish tin miners arrived after a 3000-mile journey to work in Mexico's silver mines. They were members of the Methodist Church and joining missionaries from the USA, began to spread the Wesleyan tradition in Mexico.

Throughout these anniversary celebrations Rev. Adams reflected on things God might also be saying to our churches in the UK. She writes about 5 of these in her report.

Lesson 1. Participate in the “bigness” of Connexion. She recognised the deep privilege of belonging to the Global Methodist family as on a Sunday she worshipped in a small city church that meets in an old factory building and was told by one of the members “a piece of your heart stays here with us “. On other occasions she met alongside representatives from the UMC of Latin America and the 6 conferences in Mexico. Bishop Juan de Dios Pena from El Salvador reminded them “we are all in a time of transition and in order to survive we will need stronger Connexionalism”.

For us in the UK who meet in small local churches we need to remember the value of meeting together with others in our circuits and districts to worship and learn of the “bigness” of our shared faith in God's greatness.

Lesson 2. Operate from a place of faithfulness, not fear. Congregational decline is a concern to many of Mexico's Church Leaders and they ask themselves if their ministry is no longer relevant to our society. This question is painful. “Will the Church still be there for our Grandchildren?” Rev. Adams remembers the leader saying “All we can do is focus on being faithful. We need not worry about the next 150 years. It is through faithfulness that we will find relevancy. She quotes the prayer written to commemorate the martyrdom of Oscar Romero , “We may never see the end results , but that is the difference between the Master Builder and the workers, ministers not messiahs, prophets of a future not our own.”

Lesson 3. Revival has an “I” in it not a “U”. During lectures dealing with Global concerns the speaker spoke about Conversion as when “divinity shows up and changes us” which resonated with Rev. Adams as she recalled the words included in the “Evangelism and Growth” sector for the UK Methodist church – “transformation happens (only) through encounter with the living God”. She asks how this experience might bring changes in our own lives and in our Churches today, by humbly asking God to revive us individually.

Lesson 4. Our comfort zones need stretching. Not an easy concept for our ageing membership. This Anniversary Conference was not meant to be a “pat on the back” for past successes but a bold challenge to step into the future to face the issues that will stretch our commitment and to hear God’s call to engage in His mission as He unfolds the future. For example, two ordained female Pastors of the Methodist Church sat at the front during the conference with all the Bishops of the District. This recognition of the role women need to play in the future is a courageous move for the Mexican Church and a visible symbol that they are ready to stretch their comfort zone.

Lesson 5. Participate in the “smallness” of relationship. The “bigness” of Connexionalism is formed by many inter-connected individual relationships. Some Christians may prefer a bigger more charismatic church for Sunday worship but often return to a smaller church when they need help or comfort because we have time for them 24/7, following the example of Jesus during His earthly ministry. Rev. Adams asks, “So how might we seek nothing bigger than building meaningful relationships with people inside and outside the Church and make this our sole aim?” She concludes, these are not new ideas, but they are still relevant to the church in the UK and in Mexico and we have much to share as we walk together into the future.

Our partnership in prayer is a mutual encouragement as we join them on 14th day of each month. Their neighbouring District is Belize and Honduras, where our Mission Partners, Rev. Chris and Linda Haines lead the work of the Methodist Schools and Churches. They lead us in prayer on day 11 each month. This prayer gives us a glimpse of their busy lives and their newsletters give very detailed reports and can be seen on the MWM website along with some of Chris’s excellent photography. Their current home is Utila on one of the islands in the bay off the coast of Honduras . They request prayers for their church members where they foster discipleship and develop Leadership to prepare for ministry and responsibility, aiming to reach out into their communities with God’s love. The Methodist School is bi-lingual (English and Spanish) and also focuses on preparing students to be followers of Jesus. Rev. Haines also supports the wider network of the Methodist Church in the Caribbean, mostly by Zoom meetings.

LOOK FROM A DIFFERENT ANGLE

by
Paula Cleary

I live in the land
Of Angles
Of Saxons
Of Jutes
Of Celts
Of Romans
Of Normans
Of Scandinavians

I live in the land that was shaped by thousands of generations of Fortune hunters
Treasure seekers
Wanderers and sailors
Conquerors and settlers
Warriors and lovers
Chancers and traders
Looking for a better life
In waves and on waves they came and they came and we are the product of them all.

Yet we have the nerve and the ignorance
and memory loss which makes a few of us
spew hatred towards 'People in boats'

That they are somehow different from the people who shaped and made our isle

We are ALL descended from people in boats

LONDON ROAD PROPERTY MATTERS

KITCHENS

Our new Meeting Place Servery at London Road is being well used but I need to ask all users of all three kitchens to try and keep the equipment, china, cutlery etc in each place as separate entities. If you borrow something from one kitchen to use in another, please put it back! We may have an occasion when all three kitchens are needed to be used at the same time. If something seems to be lacking please let me know.

The Blue recycling Bin is well used and should not be filled up with large cardboard boxes even if they are flattened! Please take boxes home and recycle them or take them to The Tip.
